Son Gets An Hour A Day

A young successful attorney said:

"The greatest gift I ever received was a gift I got one Christmas when my dad gave me a small box. Inside was a note saying, 'Son, this year I will give you 365 hours, an hour every day after dinner. It's yours. We'll talk about what you want to talk about, we'll go where you want to go, play what you want to play. It will be your hour!'

"My dad not only kept his promise," he said, "but every year he renewed it-and it's the greatest gift I ever had in my life. I am the result of his time."

Excerpts On "My Pop's Tops!"

Years ago a Milwaukee newspaper invited young readers to submit short essays on the theme "My Pop's Tops!" and published in the paper on Father's Day.

Here are some excerpts:

"My pop's tops. He lets me hoe the garden, even when I don't want to."

"The first time he took me to church, he was so afraid I would make a riot that he sweated all the way through the commercial."

"Because I am not very good in arithmetic, he gave me a small adding machine. But it is not very good at arithmetic, either."

"My pop is willing to help with the housework, although he complains about it a little-quite a bit, really. In fact, he hollers. Well, to tell the truth, he won't do no housework at all!"

"My pop's tops! One time he took me to the lake and threw me in to see whether I could swim. I couldn't. My pop saved my life."

"My pop is a farmer. He smells like a cow. And when I come in and smell a cow in the house, I know my pop is home, and I'm glad."

Epaminondas' Joy

Epaminondas was one of the greatest generals of Greece.

When he had conquered Sparta and delivered Greece, in the midst of universal applause, he was heard to say:

"My joy arises from my sense of that which the news of my victory will give my father and mother."
